Grow Night @ COR

Feb. 12 at 7:00 p.m. - an innovative, interactive learning opportunity to equip lay leadership to share the Good News of Jesus Christ.

The Speaker

Rev. Dr. Thomas Glenn "Jack" Jackson III is an E. Stanley Jones Professor of Evangelism at Claremont School of Theology and is a Wesleyan scholar whose research centers on the theology and practices of mission and evangelism in global contexts.

The Wallace Chappell Lectures are sponsored by The Foundation for Evangelism through an endowment gift given in honor of Wallace and Mary Frances Chappell. Wallace Chappell was an effective, distinguished pastor and evangelist serving churches in the Tennessee, Holston and Western North Carolina Conferences.

Wallace Chappell Lecturers, the best scholars and practioners of evangelism, have been used by our Lord to set afire young men and women to preach the Good News of Jesus Christ in cities across the U.S. and Germany.

There is a growing opportunity to reach not only seminarians, but also pastors and and laity in the local church. Help us to increase the Wallace Chappell Lecture Endowment on its 14th anniversary by $75,000 to expand this offering and increase our impact as a Catalyst to Equip Disciples to Share the Good News of Jesus Christ!
